

JOB OPPORTUNITY

Jamshed Akhtar Qureshi Education Trust (JAQET) a non-profit organization is seeking a motivated and experienced individual to serve as a Counselling Intern for a project with Too Young to Wed (TYTW). The project aims to empower vulnerable Afghan and Pakistani girls, prevent child marriage, and enhance the livelihoods of their families.

Position: Counselling Intern

Organization: Jamshed Akhtar Qureshi Education Trust (JAQET)

Location: Islamabad, Pakistan

Type: Full-time paid internship, 9-month contract

Application Deadline: 22nd January, 2024

Responsibilities:

As an intern, you will be an integral part of the JAQET counseling unit, working closely with schools and communities in underdeveloped areas of Islamabad. Your responsibilities will include:

1. Conducting Sensitization Sessions with the Community:

- Engaging with parents to emphasize the significance of girls' education
- Providing need-based support and guidance to address concerns and challenges
- Engaging with vocational trainees, guiding them on income-generation paths, and promoting overall social-emotional well-being

2. School Awareness Sessions:

- Raising awareness about crucial topics such as education, child marriage, child abuse, and child protection
- Offering emotional and mental health support to girls, fostering a supportive environment

Requirements:

- Background in psychology (undergraduate, or fresh graduate)
- Fluency in Pushto/Dari required for job interacting with Afghan families
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills
- Passion for community development
- Willingness to visit communities

To Apply:

Interested candidates are invited to submit their CV at maryam.khan@jaqtrust.org. Please include "Counselling Intern Application" in the subject line.
